

LANDSCAPE ARCHITECTURE

RIVERSIDE-GRAHAM CEMETERY MEMORIAL CIRCLE

Cody, Wyoming

STEINER THUESEN PLLC designed the memorial circle as a space where an individual or group of people can gather to reflect upon the life of a loved one. The space provides separation from the open feel of the cemetery with upright steel columns and an overhead shade structure. Ornamental grasses and shrubs provide a soft edge on the exterior of the space while adding to the protective feel from the interior. Large shade trees are used to provide shade in the small lawn areas.

An intimate water feature provides relaxing sound as one sits on the custom designed benches or seat walls. The earth tone hardscape and river rock veneer seat walls tie the space into its' context in the high plains desert of Wyoming. Subtle lighting is provided with fixtures built into the seat walls. Bollard lights are also placed strategically for security lighting without attracting too much attention. A directory sign is located at the center of the space between the two flagpoles allowing visitors to easily find the grave of a loved one.